Position: Part-time instructor in Japanese

Organization: IUPUI

Job Description: See below for details

The Japanese Studies Program at the Department of World Languages and Cultures at IUPUI seeks a part-time instructor in Japanese. This is a position which will start in the fall semester of 2012. Candidates for the position should have native or near-native fluency in Japanese and a good command of English. The candidate will be teaching the first-year Japanese course on Monday and Wednesday from 1:30pm to 3:45pm starting August 20, 2012. Experience in teaching Japanese and an MA in Japanese language, pedagogy, or language teaching are preferred.

Please send a CV to Professor Reiko Yonogi, Director of the IUPUI Program in Japanese Studies, at ryonogi@iupui.edu.
